Former Governor Garrah to visit J&W as Distinguished Visiting Professor Lecturer

Former Rhode Island Governor J. Joseph Garrah will visit Johnson & Wales College on Wednesday, March 16 as part of the College’s Distinguished Visiting Professor program.

Garrah, who is currently a senior vice president with the merchant banking firm of G. William Miles & Company Inc. of Washington, D.C. and Rhode Island, will tour the Culinary Arts Academic Center and address classes in the Business Division.

A dinner in Garrah’s honor will be held that night and a scholarship in the former governor’s honor will be presented at the dinner.

Garrah began his career in public service in 1962 as a Rhode Island state senator. In 1968, he was elected Lieutenant Governor, serving two four-year terms. He is best known and still remembered for the mark he left on Rhode Island as governor from 1976-1984.

During his four terms as chief executive, Garrah revitalized the state’s economy, worked toward improving New England’s energy position, modernized Rhode Island’s human services departments and state institutions, and put into place numerous programs designed to maintain and protect Rhode Island’s very special natural heritage.

His fondest priority was to revitalize and diversify Rhode Island’s economy. Garrah played an integral role in Rhode Island’s acquisition of the vacant Quonset Point Navy lands from the federal government. Today, Electric Boat employs more than 6,000 people and the Quonset Point Industrial Park is becoming a center for economic development.

As Governor, Garrah championed human services. The Department of Elderly Affairs and the Department for Children and Their Families were created during his stay in office.

Although retired from politics, Garrah is still involved in public service. He is a board member of Bradley Hospital and Family Achievement. The Rhode Island Mental Health Association has honored the Governor with the creation of “The J. Joseph Garrah Mental Health Research Fund.”

Garrah also teaches a popular seminar on values in government at Providence College.

In 1977, Johnson & Wales College granted Governor Garrah an Honorary Doctor of Business Administration Degree.

"Summertime Anytime Beach Party" offers break from winter blahs

After a long, cold winter, many Johnson & Wales students are probably chomping at the bit to break out their shorts, bathing suits and beach towels and head out to one of Rhode Island’s many wonderful beaches.

But while it may be a little cold to head out to Newport, the Student Activities Office has a little summertime fun cooked up for you on March 19 at the Rocky Point Palladium, where Ray Benson Productions will present its “Summertime Anytime Beach Party.”

The party, which will begin at 8 p.m., features a beach area, a pool area, golf, dancing and other fun activities.

There will be three 1,000-gallon pools available for students who just can’t wait for the summer, and the beach area will feature sand, scenery and sun lamps for those interested in getting a head start on their tans. Free Haagen-Das Ice Cream Bars will also be available. All that’s missing is Frankie and Annette!

So come on out and get in some practice for this summer. Don’t forget your swimsuit, towel, and plenty of tanning lotion!

J&W Advisory Councils to meet March 13 through 15

Johnson & Wales College’s Advisory Councils will hold their twelfth annual meetings from Sunday, March 13 to Tuesday, March 15 at various locations around the College.

The purpose of these meetings is to allow the College to “gauge the pulse of industry,” said Socrates Inomog, executive director-Corporate and Community Development.

“These meetings let us get an idea of the latest trends in industry and how we can better prepare the College to meet these new developments,” Inomog explained, “We hold brainstorming sessions and get input from some members of industry who will employ our students in the future.”

The system-wide advisory councils offer the student the chance to interact with Johnson & Wales students. “Students will sit in on the meetings and for the first time will prepare reports on the meetings,” Inomog said. “It will be a good opportunity for the students involved to get a chance to meet industry representatives.”

During the meetings, the councils will discuss such things as program development and current trends in the business world. The business leaders will also get a chance to tour the College’s facilities and interact with staff, professors and students.

Career placement will also be discussed.

For example, the Business Advisory Council will be given a profile of a typical Johnson & Wales student, from the admissions process through Career Placement. The Culinary Advisory Council will review the College’s curriculum today and its plans for tomorrow.

As part of the program, Johnson & Wales will also host an Industry Dinner Recognition Reception and Dinner at the J&W Inn.

The three moderators for each council are:

Business: Donna Fantasia, director-Career Development; Donald McGregor, vice president-Finance; and Dr. Irving Schneider, dean-Business Division.

Culinary: Walter Anhalt, director-Charleston, S.C. Campus; Noel Cullen, director of operations-Culinary Arts Division; and Thomas Wright, director of administration-Culinary Arts Division.

Hospitality: Richard Bush, director-Hospitality Education; Carolyn Cooper, chairman-Hotel and Food Service; and Paul LaCroix, chairman-Travel/Tourism.

Black and white dominates this year's fashions

By Stephanie Newman

Physical fitness is in this spring. Men and women are following the latest health trends of working out and eating healthy foods and the fashion industry doesn’t want all that effort to go to waste. Sparkle with lycra isn’t only for the gym, but for daytime and evening wear, too.

Synthetic, the look of yesterday, have come back with stretch tops and skirts. Let your imagination run wild - it’s comfortable, sleek and sophisticated. Spring lets us project the business image we should always keep in preparing to be a success, yet allows us to be casual and romantic.

The main pieces to keep in your wardrobe are a checkered black and white skirt and a cotton, bongo, solid black shirt with simple crew neck to show off your collarbone. A black linen jacket to the mid-thigh and a cropped, black and white checkered blazer are also musts. Black and white geometric shapes are hot! Wear polka dots, checks, both vertical and horizontal stripes (both wide and thin) accompanied by shocking red shoes or a red-lined black blazer. Instead of the plain old banana clip, put a large red flower in your hair. Mix and match them; there’s no right or wrong!

If you’re a little on the experimental, extravagant side - a true innovator who’s not afraid of saucy and glares - pair a pair of black, high-high stockings to your short trousers. Get a cumberband, or even more eccentric, a man’s tie to throw over high-waisted shorts, skirts or pants to enhance that little waistline. Don’t forget, sunglasses are a must with every outfit, day or night!

Don’t worry, guys, I haven’t forgotten you want to be in the spotlight, too. Here’s how to make your mark and capture the eye of your springtime beauty.

Keeping in mind that you need a comfortable, affordable look that reflects prestige, get a classic, button-down Oxford in white or camel. For classics, wear a white T-shirt underneath and loosen up those buttons. For work or evening wear, just slip on a paisley, diamond or polka dot tie with matching suspenders. Invest in a pair of pin-striped, linen pants with a high waistline and crepe the bottom with a wide belt and matching double-breasted blazer. You’re looking fabulous!

Culinary Learning Center schedules skills workshops

The Culinary Learning Center, which is located in the CAAC Building, will be offering several activities to assist students with their studies during the spring trimester.

Individual tutoring sessions can be scheduled Monday to Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and on Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Learning Center staff includes Ed Jarrett, fellowship student, Mary Myktycin, director-Learning Center, and Fred Mensdenhull, Pastry Arts student. Students who are interested in tutoring sessions can make an appointment by stopping in the Learning Center or by calling 456-1703.

In addition to individual tutoring sessions, the Learning Center will be offering the following workshops, skills sessions and review sessions:

Workshops:
- A Study Skills Workshop, which will consist of a brief lecture and a video presentation by a well-known author on the subject, will be held on Tuesday, March 15 at 2:30 p.m. and Thursday, March 17 at 9:30 a.m.
- Time Management Workshop — Tuesday, March 22 at 2:30 p.m. and Thursday, March 24 at 9:30 a.m.
- Writing Research Papers Workshop — Tuesday, March 29 at 2:30 p.m. and Thursday, March 31 at 9:30 a.m.

Weekly Skills and Review Sessions:
- Knife Skills — Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. and Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in room G-3.
- Pastry Skills — Call Learning Center, 456-1703, to make an appointment.
- Mixology Skills — Sign up with your Mixology instructor.
- Sanititation Review — Wednesdays at 3 p.m.
All activities will be held in the Learning Center unless otherwise noted.

If you’re worried about the common problem of being shorter than your ravishing beauty, get dark, pleated pants, a white shirt and a dark blazer, solid or pinstriped; to your surprise, that’s the trick in making shorter men seem taller.

Most important; a woman always judges a man by his shoes. It’s the first place the eye looks. The shoe should be flawless, soft leather or canvas loafers or espadrilles. To add a touch of class, get one pair with an alligator print. Your best bet is to get a pair in black, blue and beige.

And don’t forget your black, black-rimmed sunglasses!

If you have trouble finding a roommate or are having trouble finding a roommate, Roommate Referral may be the service for you.

Sinatra, Martin and Davis to perform at Civic Center

Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr., three of the entertainment world's premiere performers, will do a one-night-only concert at the Providence Civic Center on Saturday, April 2 at 8 p.m.

The extravaganza debuts Sunday, March 13 at the Oakland Coliseum in Oakland, California, and follows with performances in Vancouver, Seattle, Chicago, Detroit, Washington, D.C., and many other cities around the country.

Sinatra, Martin and Davis' previous performances have been limited to appearances at benefits and occasional reunions in Las Vegas. On October 29, 1987, during his opening at Bally's Grand in Las Vegas, Sinatra was surprised with an onstage visit by Martin and Davis. The trio's last performance was in February of last year, at a benefit for the Gene Autry Western Heritage Museum in Los Angeles.

Together, Martin, Sinatra and Davis represent more than 130 years of experience in the entertainment industry. They continue to draw critical and public acclaim wherever they perform. When the three get together on stage, as the song says, "Anything Goes."

The trio first performed together in January 1960 at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas. Since then, they have performed together in several motion pictures, including "Ocean's Eleven" (1960), "Sergeants Three" (1962) and "Robin and the Seven Hoods" (1964). The three have also collaborated on several record albums, some of which are now collector's items.

Tickets are on sale now. Call Joe Casey, Concerts East at 943-2400 or R. Lee Barslow, Providence Civic Center, at 331-0700 for more information.

TO YOUR HEALTH

By Wendy Speck, R.N.

Welcome, New Students -
The Health Service Department has two nurses' offices. The Business Division office is located at McNulty Hall, Rm. 105 and the Culinary Division office is located at the Student Center next to the snack bar.

Office hours for the Business Division office are 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. The phone number is 456-1104. No appointment is necessary.

Office hours for the Culinary Division office are 7 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. The phone number is 456-1131.

Dr. Stenniksky is the school physician and is available at McNulty Hall on Mondays from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and at the Student Center from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Wednesdays. These hours are for dormitory and commuting students.

Dr. Stenniksky also sees students in his office at 695 Smith St. The phone number is 861-2213. If the office is closed and a student gets the answering service, he should identify himself as a Johnson & Wales student. Dr. Stenniksky will return the call within 20 minutes.

All full-time students have limited medical and accident insurance. Brochures, insurance claim forms, and prescription reimbursement forms are available at both nurses' offices and at the front desk of all dorms.

If you have an accident, it must be reported to the nurses' office and an insurance claim must be completed. If the claim form is not completed, the insurance company cannot pay the bills. Any questions regarding medical insurance may be directed to the nurse on duty.

All students may see the nurse for any medical problem. All medical information is kept confidential, according to federal law.

Evaluation forms on any medical care received are available at both nurses' offices and at all dorms. These forms will evaluate any medical care received through the Health Services Department, area emergency rooms, clinics, and/or private physicians. We hope that you will fill them out and send them to the nurses' office so that we may continue to improve your health care.

There is no charge for medical treatment received at the nurses' office. The nurses will also refer you to area clinics and specialists when necessary.

A REMINDER: All new full-time students must submit a health record which includes a physical exam within the last year and proof of mumps and rubella immunity as required by Rhode Island state law. If you do not have a physician, Dr. Stenniksky is available for physicals by appointment.
