Freshman Enrollment up 5% at Johnson & Wales University

Largest increases seen in the revamped College of Business

Providence, RI - September 1 When Johnson & Wales University opens its Triangolo Gates to the Class of 2002 on Friday, it will welcome a student body more heavily seasoned with future "suits" than any other this past decade.

According to Kenneth DeSaia, the University's Dean of Admissions, freshman enrollment on the Providence campus is projected to be up five percent over last year - 2,430 versus 2,313 in September of 1997 - with the largest gains seen in the College of Business.

DeSaia says that, while enrollment is also up in The Hospitality College and the College of Culinary Arts, a recent reorganization of the business degree programs helped spur that college's significant growth. "Over the past year, the administrations and faculty of the College of Business worked diligently with our partners in industry, such as Textron and Citizens Bank, to refine their programs to meet the demands of the twenty-first century," DeSaia said. "As a result, we are able to offer innovative degrees in areas such as international business and direct response retailing that combine classroom education with significant hands-on learning."

Incoming students became acclimated to life at Johnson & Wales quickly as they were greeted with gifts and welcome receptions during Orientation on the Harborside Park Campus.

Beginning in this 1998-1999 school year, all management degrees in the College of Business are being taught in the new School of Global Management, and all marketing, retail and fashion merchandising degrees are being taught in the new School of Creative Marketing.

All management students are required to take a freshman course in international business, and all students in both schools have the option of spending one or more terms studying abroad in one of the University's summer programs in Europe and the Far East. In the school of Creative Marketing, a course in desktop publishing/web design is a requirement for approximately half of the degree programs, and will become a requirement for all degrees in 1999-2000.

About Barbara Tropp

Barbara Tropp is the author of The Modern Art of Chinese Cooking (William Morrow, 1982), widely regarded as classic text in English on Chinese cooking techniques, and the best-selling China Moon Cookbook (Workman, 1992), winner of the prestigious Julia Child Award for Best International Cookbook.

For 11 years, Ms. Tropp owned and operated the acclaimed China Moon Café in San Francisco, winner of the coveted Ivy Award. Ms. Tropp sold her business in 1997 to pursue other interests.

A China scholar turned Chinese cook, Ms. Tropp studied Chinese language, literature and arts history at Columbia, Yale and Princeton University. In the early 1970's, she spent two years in Taiwan, living with Chinese families headed by old-style cooks from whom she learned how to cook.

Ms. Tropp is an elected member of Who's Who in Food & Wine in America. She has been profiled in the New York Times Sunday Magazine, House Beautiful, Bon Appetit, Metropolitan Home and many other publications, as well as in the PBS series Great Chefs of San Francisco.

Ms. Tropp teaches widely, including at the Great Chefs Cooking School at the Robert Mondavi Winery in Napa Valley, The

by Amy Watkins

This year's Freshman Class was the largest in the 84 year history of Johnson & Wales University.

The 2,507 students that entered J&W went through registration rather smoothly. They made it through the labyrinth of tents sprawled across the Culinary Commons, and trounced through the halls of the Harborside Academic Center beginning their collegiate careers.

Orientation weekend was the university's way of saying welcome.

On Friday night, September 4th Denny Dent and his two fisted art attack gave a performance like none other. Saturday included a play fair, series of games geared to mixing the Freshmen together. The day ended with Craig Karges, a master illusionist at PPAC. On Sunday, the newcomers were greeted by Dr. John J. Bowen, President of the Providence Campus, and Armard Anderson, the Vice-President of the Student Government Association; at the University convocation in PPAC.

The weekend came to an end with a barbecue and drive-in movie on the Gaebe Commons downtown. After all of the events that took place the freshman had to feel tired. The Department of Student Life's Staff, the promoters and planners of the weekend, certainly were.

Returning students registered that Sunday and Monday.

The crazy hectic times have just started for the students and staff of the university. It's a new year filled with new faces, new challenges, and new innovations for Johnson & Wales University.

Announcement for upperclassmen in the School of Technology

National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowships Announced

The National Science Foundation (NSF) will award approximately 1,000 new Graduate Research Fellowships, including awards offered for women in engineering and computer and information science.

Fellowships are awarded for graduate study leading to research-based master's or doctoral degrees in the fields of science, mathematics, and engineering supported by the NSF. Applicants must be citizens, nationals, or permanent resident aliens of the United States as the time of application.

Each three-year fellowship provides a stipend of $15,000 for 12-month tenures, and a cost-of-education allowance of $10,500 per tenure year.

Graduate Fellowships are awarded on the basis of ability. The NSF welcomes applications from all qualified science, mathematics, or engineering students and strongly encourages women, minorities, and persons with disabilities to compete fully in the program.

The deadline for applying in the 1999 competition is November 5, 1998. Awards will be announced in late March 1999. The NSF contracts with Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU) to provide the support services for this prestigious fellowship program. For additional information, contact the NSF Graduate Research Fellowship Program, ORAU, PO Box 3010, Oak Ridge, TN 37831-3010, phone (423)241-4300, electronic mail nsfgrfp@orau.gov, or fax (423)4513. Also check out Internet page at <http://www.orau.gov/nsf/nsffl.htm>

Established in 1946, ORAU is a consortium of 87 doctoral-granting colleges and universities that serves the government, academia, and the private sector in important areas of science and technology.

Campus Safety Bulletin

by Tom Cornicelli, Campus Safety and Security

On Monday, August 31, 1998, at approximately 11:35pm, a suspicious pickup truck was observed pulling into the ACE Residence Hall parking lot in Warwick.

An alert Johnson & Wales security officer called for back up and approached the vehicle. The two occupants of the vehicle were detained until Warwick police arrived. The area was thoroughly examined and a broken window was discovered leading into the Resident Director's Office.

Police lifted latent prints from the window and matched them to the two suspects who were ultimately charged with attempted burglary.

Losing Weight: Enter The Zone

Dr. Sears offers healthier dietary recommendations to Johnson & Wales

Providence, RI - September 2, 1998 - Barry Sears, Ph.D., author of Enter the Zone, recently discussed his controversial theories during a lively lecture at Johnson & Wales University's College of Culinary Arts.

Dr. Sears offered his audience a dietary road map that enables people to lose weight permanently, prevent disease and achieve maximum physical performance. He was invited to visit Johnson & Wales University by Kenneth R. Levy, senior vice president of external affairs, who lost more than 50 pounds by following the Zone eating plan. Several other University officials are using the Zone theory for weight loss.

According to Dr. Sears, Americans have been told since 1955 to cut back on fat for health reasons, with surprising results. "Fat consumption is down 14 percent in America," he reported. "Pasta consumption is up 115 percent. Obesity is up 32 percent. Americans have become the fattest people in the world."

Dr. Sears believes that the latest dietary recommendations of the U.S. government are "dead wrong." The official Food Guide Pyramid calls for 2 to 3 servings of protein and 6 to 11 servings of carbohydrates each day. Instead, Dr. Sears recommends a more balanced diet that has equal amounts of carbohydrates and protein.

Thomas L. Wright, vice president of culinary education, said he was especially interested in Dr. Sears' message because the University is preparing to offer a new nutrition degree. Wright predicted that chefs will work increasingly with registered dietitians and nutritionists as they plan their menus. "The chefs of the next millennium must be more aware of proper nutrition, and our culinary arts students need to be better prepared." He said.

Dr. Sears described Johnson & Wales as "the Harvard University of Culinary Arts."

Free PR news, job and other info on new internet site

New York, Sept. 5 - Communications, public relations and journalism majors can obtain valuable free career information via a new Internet Site - www.odwyerpr.com

The site, updated daily by the O'Dwyer Co., carries stories from the 30-year-old weekly O'Dwyer PR newsletter, job listings from its employment newsletter, and how-to and PR firm profile articles from its monthly magazine.

Students can obtain the names of the biggest PR firms in 21 cities and regions throughout the U.S. as well as the names of PR firms that specialize in such categories as high-tech, healthcare, financial, travel and sports PR. There are hyper-links to other PR sites.

"There is invaluable career information," said Publisher Jack O'Dwyer. Students with an interest in high-tech or healthcare, the two fastest-growing areas, can target such PR firms in cities where they will live.

"They can also get up to speed on the major issues facing the PR and communications fields and the PR specialties. This will make it easier for them to shift from the academics to the working world" added O'Dwyer.

The nine O'Dwyer products include directions or PR firms, corporate PR departments and a who's who of the field. All O'Dwyer products are sold at half price to students or professors. The O'Dwyer newsletter and monthly magazine have been on NEXIS in full text since January, 1989, the only PR publications carried by NEXIS.

Amateur cooks to test their skills in special classes

Providence, RI -- September 8, 1998 - Amateur home cooks who want to learn more about the culinary arts are invited to sign up for Chef's Choice classes scheduled for this fall at Johnson & Wales University.

The fall course selections are planned to take advantage of the traditional harvest season and prepare for the coming holidays. All classes combine demonstration and hands-on experience under the direction of professional chef-instructors and qualified food specialists. the Chef's Choice program is geared for people interested in home cooking, entertaining and small food businesses.

In addition to classes devoted to everything from pizza to pastry to pasta, a variety of special programs are planned. The International Series is a culinary trip around the world planned for every Saturday afternoon in October and November with dinner stops planned in France, Germany, Italy, the Mediterranean, the Middle East, Africa and Scandinavia.

Other special classes will be devoted to basic cooking, fall cooking techniques and working with chocolate. Most classes cost between $25 and $45 to attend.

For additional information on Chef's choice program, call 401-598-2336 or 800-342-5598.

What do you do when 2,000 people are coming over for dessert? That was the challenge facing Chef Mark Bennison when he was asked to prepare the sweet ending to Zoobilee, the annual fundraiser for the Roger Williams Park Zoo in Providence, RI.

Food from two dozen local restaurants was offered to the massive crowd that came to "feast with the bests."

But it was Chef Bennison's 4,000 mini-pastries and 40 cakes that dazzled the partygoers who meandered through the zoo for a glimpse or two of the elephants and giraffes, monkeys and polar bears.

As the executive pastry chef of the Radisson Airport Hotel, Bennison has all the space, equipment and manpower needed to accomplish such a daunting task.

"I always look for the 'wow' factor," Chef Bennison said. "When people look at one of my desserts, I want them to say 'wow' before digging in to eat."

At the Radisson, Chef Bennison's desserts change daily, and three specials are offered every day. Chef Bennison says he gets his dessert ideas from reading about what other pastry chefs are doing and from experimenting.

Chef Bennison's day begins at 5 a.m. at the Radisson, which is an education facility of Johnson & Wales University. For the greater part of each day, he works with 8 to 12 baking and pastry arts students who are hungry for hands-on experience in the kitchen. "They learn how to make everything from bread to ice cream," he explained.

Plain and simple ice cream is this pastry chef's favorite dessert. "It's a little odd, but I just like to make desserts - I'm not much of a dessert eater except for ice cream," Chef Bennison said.

From Chef Bennison's recipe collection, here are two that feature ice cream and are sure to be a big hit with your youngsters of all ages.

Rocky Road Brownies

(Makes 15)
1 pound butter
1 pound unsweetened chocolate or baker's chocolate, chopped
10 whole eggs
4 cups granulated sugar
3 cups cake flour

In a medium-size saucepan, bring the butter to a boil and add in the unsweetened chocolate; whisk until smooth.

New Seasons bringing new play:

Nine Armenians coming to Trinity Rep

The second play of Trinity Repertory Company's 35th season begins in a few weeks: Nine Armenians by Leslie Ayvazian. Artistic Director Oskar Eustis directs this warm and sensitive story of family history and suffering, lovingly told through the experience of a three-generation Armenian American family. Rich with the humor and pathos of all families, Nine Armenians begins September 25 and runs through November 8. Press night is Monday, September 28th at 7:00pm.

Playwright and stage and screen actress Leslie Ayvazian wrote Nine Armenians about her own family. Central to the play is the rich and tragic history of the Armenian people, which includes the first genocide of the modern era: 1.5 million Armenians were killed by the Turks in 1915-16. Yet Nine Armenians' message transcends simple boundaries and nationalities; the story echoes the lineage of many Americans and our search for meaning in the lives of our ancestors. After its premiere in Seattle and long, popular runs in Los Angeles, New York and Denver, Nine Armenians meets New England audience in a few weeks.

In Nine Armenians' pivotal event, the granddaughter Ani travels to Armenia in search of her people's history and culture. "The first generation to grow up after the massacres was very sheltered, protected from the truth," says Ayvazian. "It's this second generation who is now much more vocal, much more committed to bearing witness to what went on, and waiting to tell the story to the world."

"Nine Armenians is a magical, lyrical play that floats on top of one of the great underreported tragedies of human history," says Oskar Eustis, Artistic Director of Trinity Rep and director of Nine Armenians. "The genocide of the Armenians produced a reverberation that is still present in our world today. It has been an amazing and humbling journey for me as I begin to know the Armenian history, the Armenian community, and the extraordinary power of the Armenian story. Leslie Ayvazian's play is by no means a documentary.

It is a play full of humor, hope, compassion and life, about a people who have survived the worst of all imaginable historical circumstances with dignity, with love and with an extraordinary commitment to one another."

Appearing in Nine Armenians are Company members Barbara Orson, Timothy Crowe, Phillis Kay, Fred Sullivan, Jr., Janice Duclos, and Robert J. Colonna. Joining the Company are Los Angeles actress Elizabeth Eidenberg and real-life sister and brother Ginger and Teddy Karian-Allister as Ginya and Raffi. Ms. Eidenberg is a graduate of ACT in San Francisco, and played the role of Ani at the Mark Taper Forum and Denver Theater Center.

Nine Armenians is sponsored by The Gatehouse Restaurant and Cheeky Monkey Café. Performances of Nine

Armenians will be in the Downstairs Theater at Trinity Rep's downtown Providence location. Curtain times are 8pm Wednesday through Saturday; 7pm Tuesday and Sunday; and 2pm on Sunday and select Saturdays and Wednesdays. Single tickets for Nine Humanities Rep continues this season, a free post-show discussion series with moderator Sam Coale and guest speakers from the Rhode Island community. Nine Armenians' Humanities rep is scheduled for Saturday October 10 after the 2pm matinee. Food for Thought, an opportunity for members of the audience to discuss the production with members of the artistic team, will be Sunday September 27th after the 7pm performance.

Full season and four-play subscriptions are still available, providing the best seating at the deepest discounts, plus exclusive benefits such as ticket date exchanges. In addition to Nine Armenians, Trinity Rep's 35th season includes The Threepenny Opera by Bertolt Brecht and Kurt Weill, George Bernard Shaw's Saint Joan, Shakespeare's As You Like It, the world premiere of Robert Alexander's A Preface to the Alien Garden, Master Class by Terrence McNally, and Can't Pay? Won't Pay! by Nobel Prize winner Dario Fo. A Christmas Carol returns November 13 - December 27.

PROVIDENCE PERFORMING ARTS CENTER

"Late Nite" performances at PPAC show precedence

PPAC's summer engagement of "Late Nite Catechism" is hailed as resounding success: Other markets may follow Providence's lead

Providence, RI - J.L. "Lynn" Singleton, president of the Providence Performing Arts Center, announces that the eight-week run of Late Nite Catechism starring Maripat Donovan and Jodi Capeless surpassed the theatre's initial expectations. The one-person comedy sensation opened on July 7 and closed on Saturday, August 29th; it consistently played to sold-out houses. Nearly 20,000 Providence Performing Arts Center subscribers and single ticket buyers saw the show. A unique aspect of this presentation was that the audience sat on the Performing Arts Center State - an idea which successfully transformed the 3,200-seat proscenium theatre into an intimate 350-seat house. Patrons had the opportunity to see the recently renovated backstage area and to see the newly-expanded stagehouse from the stage as the main act curtain was raised at the end of each Late Nite Catechism performance.

Vincent A. Cianci, Jr., Mayor of Providence, said, "PPAC's summer presentation has proven that arts and entertainment in Providence never take a vacation. With the success of Late Nite Catechism, and the great numbers of people coming into the Downtown in what was once the 'off-season' - it is more apparent than ever that Providence's role as a destination is ever-green. I am extremely pleased to know that more than 20,000 theatre-goers took advantage of this opportunity to enjoy the City's Arts and Entertainment District this summer. We look forward to welcoming them back this fall and winter.

Singleton said, "It was great to see the area around the theatre bustle with activity this summer with the show audiences coming in. It's been good for the restaurants, parking garages, and for the City in general. Word of this success has spread, and I have hosted a number of other theatre managers from other parts of the country; they have been so encouraged by our success that they are planning to replicate the concept in their markets next year."

Maripat Donovan who plays "Sister," the character in the play, extends her thanks for the successful run to the tens of thousands who attended the show. Donovan said, "The reception here in Providence, the theatre, and the theatre staff have been exceptional - and also generous. Jodi and I have collected nearly $20,000 in individual contributions from theatre-goers to send the Mother House for the Retired Carmelite Sisters in Germantown, NY. We've sent nearly $60,000 to them since we have been asking for audience support, and we want to express our gratitude to the Performing Arts Center patrons for their kindness."

Free Concert at PPAC All are welcome

New Fall Season of "Wonders Of The Wurlitzer" at the Providence Performing Arts Center Began on September 9; This free concert series is sponsored by Bluechip for Medicare, a program of Coordinated Health Parner's Inc.

Providence, RI - The Providence Performing Arts Center (PPAC) will offer five concerts at the theater's rate and magnificent Mighty Wurlitzer organ on Wednesday, September 9, 16, and 23 and October 14 and 21, 1998. The concerts are free and open to the public; they begin at noon and conclude at 1p.m. Groups are welcome - call 401-421-2997, ext. 3116 for group information. There will be complimentary refreshments, and concert goers are welcome to bring a bagged lunch.

The PPAC's Mighty Wurlitzer organ console is five feet tall and five feet wide with five keyboards - it is one of just a few of its kind remaining in the world today. It was brought into the theatre in 1982 and is often played before Broadway shows and concerts. It has accompanied Gospel choirs during the theatre's Gospel Fest and was also featured in the theatre's City Children's Series.

Theatre pipe organs gained popularity during the silent movie era for their ability to provide dynamic sound effects and background music. The Wurlitzer Company was the largest manufacturer in the world of theatre pipe organs which is why the name "Wurlitzer" became synonymous with the instrument. Two factors, the talking movie pictures and the onset of the Great Depression, rendered theatre organs virtually obsolete.

As a result, many theatres destroyed the organs or sold them to private parties which is why so few remain today.

Princess Cruises' Searches "Sea to Sea" For Terrific Trios

Pointer Sisters On Board to Judge National Talent Search Finalists win trip to Florida to audition on the new Sea Princess, "triplet" ship to Sun and Dawn Princesses (CPWire) Los Angeles, CA - August 17, 1998 - In celebration of the launch of the Sea Princess, the third 77,000-ton superliner in its Grand Class fleet, Princess Cruises announces the "Sea To Sea Search For Terrific Trios" to honor famous and soon-to-be famous threes. The legendary trio, The Pointer Sisters, will help select the most talented threesomes from among 20 national finalists from all entries including, but not limited to, dancers, singers, musicians, jugglers and magicians. Video entries must be postmarked by September 30, 1998.

Twenty winning trios will receive an all-expense paid trip to Fort Lauderdale during the week of December 15 to participate in the ship's inaugural festivities, including an overnight gala cruise and the naming ceremony of the Sea Princess. One grand prize trio will receive a seven-day Caribbean cruise.

"Our passengers have been so enthusiastic about the Sea Princess' predecessors, Sun Princess and Dawn Princess, that we wanted to clearly position our newest ship as the third in a successful series. And what better way to introduce her than to celebrate other terrific trios," said Rick James, senior vice president of customer service and sales.

The three-time Grammy award-winning Pointer Sisters, known for their energetic and versatile hits such as I'm So Excited, Neutron Dance and Jump (For My Love), will be aboard the Sea Princess to greet the winning trios and join in the inaugural festivities.

How to enter: The "Sea to Sea Search For Terrific Trios" contest is open to amateur and professional trios throughout the U.S. and Canada. All contestants must submit a video performance that is no longer than five minutes in duration. In addition, contestants must include a 100-word statement about why your trio is terrific and include name, address, phone number, age and photo. All videotaped entries should be submitted on a 1/2" VHS tape to: "Sea to Sea Search For Terrific Trios," c/o Porter Novelli, 220 E. 24th Street, 8th Floor, New York, NY 10017. Contestants may call toll free (877-Sea-Trio) for more information or to request a copy of the rules. Entries must be postmarked by September 30, 1998. Finalists will be notified by November 15th.

The Sea Princess will sail a seven-day Western Caribbean itinerary from December 19th through April, when it will reposition to Alaska. Princess Cruises is one of the three largest cruise lines in the world and operates a fleet of ten cruise ships. Its popular "Love Boat" fleet calls at approximately 230 ports around the globe on more than 70 different itineraries, more than any other cruise line.

The Community Players Announce Auditions For The Gift Of The Magi

The Community Players will hold auditions for the holiday musical THE GIFT OF THE MAGI on Sunday, September 20 at 6:00pm and Tuesday, September 22 at 7:00pm at Jenks Junior High School, Division Street, Pawtucket, RI (across from McCoy Stadium). Director Carol Varden is looking for 6 men and 4 women who are at least 18 years of age. Prepare and bring the sheet music for an upbeat song from a Broadway musical. The show will be produced at Jenks Junior High School on November 28 and 29, and December 4, 5, 6, 11, 12, and 13.

Correction from the University Involvement Board

Correction:

The University Involvement Board (UIB) would like to make a correction to the 1998-1999 Student Handbook. In the handbook it states that UIB will be hosting Adam Sandler on September 25th at the Providence Performing Arts Center. This, unfortunately, is not true. While we did try to get Adam Sandler, he was unavailable for any fall dates due to his filming schedule. We apologize for any confusion that this may have caused. Please look forward to future events sponsored by the UIB. Any questions can be directed to Tim Lorenz, UIB Advisor at extention 4682.

Your Horoscope by Natasha

ARIES (March 21- April 19) This is a good week for reaching agreements with others. Couples feel especially close to each other and you see eye-to-eye on important mutual concerns.

TAURUS (April 20- May 20) You may be able to add more to your savings than you thought possible. Talks with those in high places is favored this week. Connections prove helpful to you on the business front.

GEMINI (May 21- June 20) The exchange of romantic sentiments is favored now. You'll be hearing from someone at a distance. A friend gives you some helpful advice. Socialize with family over the weekend.

CANCER (June 21- July 22) There's much going on of a behind-the-scenes nature this week and all of it is positive. You're laying plans now for an important career move. You receive support from others.

LEO (July 23-August 22) You'll enjoy the talks with others you have and the warm reception you receive. The exchange of ideas you have stimulates your own thinking. You envision new goals for yourself this weekend.

VIRGO (August 23- September 22) You may find something you like at a garage sale. A private talk bodes well for your financial interests. Common sense and practicality are your allies over the weekend.

LIBRA (September 23- October 22) Grace, charm, and facility of expression aid you in all you do. You'll certainly be making a good impression on those you contact. Things go your way!

SCORPIO (October 23- November 21) It seems it's a better time to shop for home furnishings than for personal finery. You'll have an important talk that could lead to extra money for you. A weekend of simply doing nothing is well-deserved!

SAGITTARIUS (November 22- December 21) Know whom you're dealing with if shopping by mail. Report with a child is excellent. Make sure you save part of this week for fun and amusements. Romance is a plus.

CAPRICORN (December 22- January 19) You could be socializing with someone from work this week. Make sure you follow through on a promise to a family member. It's a good time for home decisions.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) You could overdo it a bit when it comes to entertaining now, but in affectionate matters, things go very well for you. Enjoy these favorable vibrations!

PISCES (February 19- March 20) You could misplace something of value at home. You'll have good insights about a career matter. Someone on the job may have a romantic interest in you. It's best to ignore this.

First of All!

By Kevin Poirier, Sports Editor

Sunday, September 6 marks the opening of the NFL season and the race to see who will claim the Vince Lombardi trophy for the thirty second time.

In this issue of first of all, we will explore all the playoff teams and where they will finish, my feelings on who will win personal awards, and things to watch out for. This season could possibly be the most anticipated as a follow up to arguably the greatest season in history. How many times in the same season does a running back post 2,000 yards the way Barry Sanders did. The score of the superbowl stay within a touch down, and also in the same game a legend in John Elway put the exclamation point on his great career. Warren Moon, and Boomer Esiason proved that age wasn't nothing but a number with their great performances last year. All in all repeat season would be tough but possible.

We will start with the most important thing in any sport who will make the playoffs and advance. The Denver Bronco's show no signs of losing a step, I put them in the superbowl and repeating. Terrell Davis is the KFC's best running back and should remain so even with some of the loses on the offensive line. I can only say at this time by a reliable source this also could be John Elway's last season. The team Denver will beat in the superbowl will be the San Francisco Forty Niners. The league's best young coach Steve Mariuchi will lead a talented group of veterans including Steve Young and Jerry Rice back to the superbowl. The two victims in the conference championships will be the Pittsburgh Steelers, and the Green Bay Packers. Pittsburgh who has the league's most dangerous quarter back in Kordell Stewart who kills you with the run and the pass. They also have th team but I could only mean Jerome Bettis. Pittsburgh has a great team but will come up just short against Denver. Green Bay who looks to become the first team in the history of the NFC to go to the superbowl three consecutive years. They will come up just short as it will take a while for Dorsey Levens to get in to form after missing missing the entire pre-season. Denver will also knock out the Kansas City Chiefs, who I think will be the AFC west champions, and the New York Jets who will make the playoffs under Jacksonville, and Jacksonville will beat the New England Patriots. To round out the NFC Minnesota who will finish second in the central will be done in by San Francisco, however Viking fans I do feel you will be in the second round via beating Detroit. For all the Tampa Bay fans you will also be in the second round after knocking out Washington. This is the way it looks right now but don't cry Miami fans, Dallas fans, and Oakland fans, you all have talent and could make it via some upsets.

In the personal awards department there should be some very tight races but I will tell who I see winning them. the league's most valuable player will be a three peat Bret Favre the most talented quarterback in the league will rise to win it again. Bret must watch his back I feel, Kordell Stewart will make strong run. Barry Sanders will win the rushing title because he is the league's best but do not look for him to break Erik Dickerson's mark of 2,105 yards. Rookie of the year will be Randy Moss and all 20 teams that didn't pick him will slap themselves in the head. Defensive player of the year will be Derrick Thomas. Folks, in my opinion, this looks like a great football season. And whether you like it or not, you just received another edition of First of All!

Hard work the theme for this Soccer bunch

They've split their first two matches, but there's on thing that hopefully remain constant throughout the JWU men's soccer season.

The team works like crazy, and they're certainly entertaining.

Johnson & Wales beat Eastern Nazarene, 3-0, in their season opener at Pierce Stadium, then dropped a 2-0 decision at Western Connecticut to open the year at 1-1. But Coach Gregg Miller returned from Danbury confident that this year's team will be in the hunt every time they put the uniforms on.

"We actually played pretty well at Western," Miller said, "Their field is artificial turf, and it was raining. They knew a little bit more about playing on stick carpet than we did. We slipped around a bit, and it hurt us a bit. Other than that, we're playing pretty well thus far."

"Pretty well" is an understatement. They Wildcats were downright tough in the opener at sun-spanked Pierce Stadium in East Providence. After narrowly missing a couple of opportunities in the first half, JWU made the most of their second-half chances, and ran past Eastern Nazarene.

Chris LeFave, who was the Great Northeast Athletic Conference's second-leading scorer in 1996, returned to the pitch for Johnson & Wales after a year off and scored the season's first two goals. Just for good measure, the senior from Tewksbury, MA was credited with an assist on the 'Cats other goal, when roberto Libano scored frm in close on a rebound of a LeFave shot as time whittledown in the second half.

The 'Cats certainly had their chances in the first half, in which they carried the play throughout. LeFave was thwarted on a penalty kick as the half was nearly completion, and had narrowly missed scoring when a 15-yarder sailed just wide of the far post.

JWU finally got on the board until the 73rd minute, when LeFave broke in to the right of prone Eastern Nazarene keeper and fired to the far post. Six minutes later, Libano scored on a rebound, and the 'Cats gained some breathing room with a 2-0 lead.

Three minutes after Libano's goal, Chris Suether sent LeFave away with a perfect pass to the midfield. LeFave completed the scoring on a beautiful breakaway tally, speeding past the ENC defenders and firing a ten-yarder into the near corner.

Meanwhile, Mark Scott was busy registering a shutout in his first start in the Wildcat goal. The sophomore from Ohio made five saves and covered just about every one of Eastern Nazarene's nine corner kicks. Scott got a bit of help preserving his shutout from the goal post. A first-half shot in the 18th minute beat Scott, but reffed off the post and dropped harmlessly onto the feet of freshman defender Scott Boggs, who deared the ball out of immediate danger.

Scott (Mark, that is) helped himself in the second, too. Still in a 0-0 draw, Scott got just enough of his foot on a shot by Eastern Nazarene's Dan Olsen to slide the ball just wide of the goal. Scott then covered a corner kick to keep the score at zero.

He finished with five saves. The Wildcats got solid play from a whole slew of players. Boggs and Eliot Sykes, both playing their first varsity game, were big on the back line along with sophomore Brian Spielman. Veterans Suether, Joe Espinosa, and Nate Ernest made freshman Pongrapee Sukopat right at home in the middle. LeFave and Libano, meanwhile, had some help up from Enrique Perez, who just missed on a couple of nifty rushes.

Now that they've finished their opening road trip of the year, the Wildcats take on Anna Maria on Thursday at Pierce. They'll head to New Jersey next weekend for non-league matches with Stevens Tech and Montclair State.

Volley ‘Cats split among winning

It seems as if all of JWU’s fall athletic teams are “doing the splits” in their first week of activity. The women’s volleyball team joined its soccer counterparts in the trend as they opened their season in Massachusetts with a win and a loss.

The Wildcats lost a four-set match to Bridgewater State, then defeated Mass. Maritime for their first win of the year in Bridgewater, Mass.

Still, third year coach Jamie Murray was pleased with the team’s performance. “We played really well for the first games of the season. We also experimented with some things that we’re going to use during the year, and had to iron out some miscommunication because it’s so early and because it was a non-league match. We’ll try to work out the bugs, just like everyone else is doing,” she said.

The volleyball team’s nonleague schedule is indeed more challenging than last year’s, but Murray’s convinced that, in order to be successful in conference play, her ‘Cats need to face the best available competition. “Bridgewater’s got a lot of very good Freshmen and sophomores, and they had a lot of height, so it was to our advantage to play them and our veterans played well,” Murray said.

Michelle Gibbons, the 1996 All-GNAC frontliner who has returned, had 19 kills and eight blocks, freshman Monique Parks had 15 kills and five aces. Nancy Shelar had 23 assists and five aces. Danielle Scialpi had six kills against Mass. Maritime. Sandra Lai had a very consistent all-around game, especially on the back line.

The first major tests of the year are upon them. The Wildcats play Thursday here at home against Western New England. Then on Saturday, JWU travels to Roger Williams and a four-team, round-robin tournament. The big match comes next Wednesday, the 23rd, when defending Great Northeast Athletic Conference champion St. Joseph comes to the Culinary Gym to face the ‘Cats, who hope to get a look at what the GNAC championship match could be all about.

Ball “Bounces” in Wildcats favor

The best rebounds apparently are not going to come solely from the Johnson & Wales basketball teams. The women’s soccer team showed that it, too, can “rebound.”

After Western New England spanked the ‘Cats in the first round of the Western New England tournament last weekend, JWU bounced right back and whipped Bay Path College, 6-0.

The Wildcats got rolling late in the first half and never looked back as LaChanna Franklin scored two of her three goals in the final five minutes of the half. Then, as Franklin was putting the finishing touches on her hat-trick, Lauren Benek, Christina Sullivan, and Jacqui Shepherd all scored in the second half to give the ‘Cats a split of their first weekend of action.

Holley Bodwell, who came on in relief and stoped ten shots in the WNEC game, had three saves in registering her fist shutout for JWU. The Wildcats out shot their opponents throughout the entire game, something that made first-year head coach Chris Guay happy.

“We must’ve had at least 30 shots,” the ‘Cat coach said, “it took a while to get us going because we just couldn’t finish anything off. But once LaChanna scored her first one, things got rolling.”

Having four veterans figure in the scoring was a plus, but one of the newest Wildcats had a big hand in the win. Freshman Lauren Collins, who was named to the all-tournament team along with Franklin, “was everywhere,” according to Guay.

With that first win under their belt, the Wildcats begin a busy week looking for more. JWU travels to Becker College for a Thursday match up, then plays at Simmons in the Great Northeast Athletic Conference opener for both teams in Boston on Saturday.

The Wildcats will be at Pierce Stadium on Monday against intrastate rival Roger Williams, then take on another Rhode Island rival, Salve Regina, on Thursday, September 24 at 4PM.

CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS

FROM THE OFFICE OF STUDENT ACTIVITIES

ATTENTION ALL STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS!!!

CLUB AND ORGANIZATION OFFICERS REGISTRATION CARDS ARE DUE NO LATER THAN FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1998

After this date Office of Student Life will cancel room reservations of non-registered student organizations. Non-registered organizations will not be eligible for SGA funding.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES NIGHTS

This years Student Activities Night will take place Tuesday, Sept. 22 (Culinary) and Wednesday Sept. 23 (Plantations). Clubs and Organizations may reserve there space either at the Friendship Building or Student Activities Night reservation forms are in the club and Organization mailboxes and are due back immediately. Tables will be given on first come first serve basis.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING

Friday September 18, IS THE CLUB & ORGANIZATION MANDATORY TRAINING WHICH WILL TAKE PLACE IN PLANTATIONS FROM 10:00AM - 3:30PM. Please set this date aside. Getting this information up front will help things run smoothly for your group. If your Organization plans to allow other than the President or Treasurer to chair specific program or activities and you plan to delegate decision making authority these members should attend the training and become authorized signature of your account. Only students who attend the training will be allowed to facilitate paperwork for your organization. Make up sessions will be scheduled in both October and November but are not as thorough and are not recommended for new leaders.

GET INVOLVED!

Here are some commonly asked questions about getting involved at JWU

HOW DO I JOIN A CLUB?

Students organizations are run by the students. In the first few weeks of school, veteran members often reconnect, get their own schedules worked out, and then set and post a meeting time. If you see a flyer of a club you are interest in, simply note the date, time, and place and go to the meeting. The Office of Student Life in the Friendship Building has requested information from organizations on when and where they are meeting in by September 18. Before that date flyers may be your best source of information. Feel free to stop in and express you interest. A note for any organization you are interest in with your name, address, and phone number can be left for the organization at the front desk of the Friendship Building. Student organization leaders are always anxious to connect with interested students and alert you to their meetings.

IS THERE AN ACTIVITIES FAIR AT WHICH ALL THE

CLUBS ARE PRESENT?

Yes, Tuesday September 22 and Wednesday September 23 all student organizations have been invited to set up membership recruitment displays to meet new members. Don't miss it, Tuesday, September 22, 7-9pm @ culinary and Wednesday, September 23, @ Plantations.

WHAT DO I DO IF THE CLUB I AM INTEREST IN SEEMS TO BE INACTIVE?

From the time student organizations become dominant when a student graduates. If this has happened to an organization you are interest in, it falls to you and others that may share your interest to reestablish the group. To do this please stop by the office of student life and ask for Scott MacDavitt to find out who the staff liaison is to that group. Set up a meeting with the staff liaison and he or she will assist you in hosting an organizational meeting. A well planned and advertised organizational meeting should allow you and the staff liaison to assess if there is still student interest in this group.

Attention All Students:

If you would like to become a part of a club or organization here at Johnson & Wales University, the Student Life Department is sponsoring two Student Activities Nights.

Tuesday, September 22 at the Culinary Gym and Wednesday, September 23 at the Xavier Gym.

Both Nights will begin at 8:00PM. All student clubs as well as all fraternities and sororities will be present to answer any questions you may have about joining their clubs.
