

The Palm Court

Throughout the centuries, tea has been a romantically ritualized sign of hospitality and ceremony. The British have long associated tea with royalty, especially during the Victorian era when tea belonged to the rich and fashionable. Later, "Tea Gardens" became popular in London and other large cities. These pleasure gardens were a place where patrons could take in the air, share tea and enjoy entertainment.

The 19th Century gave rise to formal "Afternoon Tea," extravagant social occasions, yet elegant and refined. Tea now became a social event, complete with gossip and the sharing of little sandwiches and dainty cakes; proper etiquette was a must.

This refined and stylish afternoon tradition has survived, and at the Palm Court it remains the epitome of luxury and elegance - the perfect setting for relaxed conversation and shared enjoyment. It is our pleasure to serve you Traditional Afternoon Tea.

Traditional Black Teas

Palm Court Blend

Combines four individually prized teas and has remained the elegant and very popular house blend served in the Palm Court over many decades.

Ceylon

Imported from southern Sri Lanka, this tea reflects refined elegance and imparts subtle mellow flavors.

Darjeeling

Rare fine Himalayan Darjeeling, one of the best classical teas in the world.

English Breakfast

Pure China Black (Keemun) is the original blend of English Breakfast. To be truly English, we recommend a dash of milk.

India Black

Grown high in the Blue Mountains of Southern India, this tea is fragrant, traditional and easy to sip.

Earl Grey

The tea is infused with Oil of Bergamot, an expensive citrus flavoring, which imparts a wonderful aroma.

Flavored Teas

Chocolate-Mint

A lovely after-dinner tea. This is a black tea with chocolate flavoring and peppermint leaves. You will swear you are drinking your favorite candy. Children love it!

Black Current

A blend of the finest black Chinese teas, infused with the natural flavor and essence of black currants.

Hot Cinnamon Spiced

The practice of spicing tea is displayed at it's foremost with this blend, containing a mixture of choice black teas, cinnamon and cloves.

Vanilla

A large-leafed ceylon, this tea reflects elegance and imparts subtle melon flavors of vanilla bean.

Low Caffeine and Herbal Teas

Peppermint

Dried peppermint leaves produces this soothing and free of caffeine tea highlighting its herbal zip.

Chamomile

Produced from the finest chamomile flowers. This tea has a gentle herbal flavor enhanced by its floral under-notes.

A 20% SERVICE CHARGE WILL BE ADDED ON PARTIES OF SIX OR MORE

Jasmine

Believed to have been served at the court of the Ming Dynasty, Green and Pouchong teas are scented with jasmine flowers to produce an exquisitely perfumed and delicately balanced tea.
