Welcome Back to the Spring!

The JWU Charlotte Library would like to welcome back the Queen City Brew! After a hiatus, we have restarted this newsletter and will return it to its monthly (minus the summer) release to share exciting news and information and tips about the Library, current events, and the surrounding area. At the end of each issue, there will also be a list of new books in the collection. Be sure to check that out and find an awesome array of books to suit your educational and pleasure reading needs.

* Spring is in the air. And so is the pollen. The Bradford pear trees on Trade St. are in full bloom, the days are longer, the temps are higher. This has always been an exciting time of the year for me, heralding the coming of summer, swimming, and travels. But more than that, Spring comes with its own set of Festivals, picnics, and other events that you make the final push to the end of the school year.

What is the Journal Locator?

Under Research Resources on the Johnson & Wales Library Website, you see a link to Journal Locator. You can search for Journals on particular subjects or topics or if you want to search a certain Journal by name, here is where you find it.

Here is how the Journal Locator can help you:

If a journal, magazine, or newspaper is available online through JWU's subscription databases—and depending on the vendor/publisher—you will either link to a database search screen where you can enter search terms, or to a journal title (year of publication, volume, issue number) where you can "search within this publication."

For example, let’s say you were looking for articles about copyright or branding. Perhaps you could search in the Journal Locator for Journals that contain the word “brand” or “products”. Here are the steps:

* Go to Journal Locator search- Click the dropdown and choose “title contains all words” and try “brand”
Help is Here

Do you need help with research for homework assignments? Are you interested in polishing your skills in a Microsoft Office product? If you are trying to expand your knowledge the library is here to help. We also offer one-on-one sessions Tuesday and Wednesday evenings 4-9pm.

Contact melanie.wood@jwu.edu to make an appointment

*Then click Search and see that you have database access to some Journals with this search term, you can now pick a title and search on that focused publication using more specific keywords.

One other note is that when you search your results could point you to the Directory of Open Access Journals which “contains 4000 open access journals, i.e. quality controlled scientific and scholarly electronic journals that are freely available on the web.” Another resource that can help you find information.

Parks and Trails

Spring officially arrived Saturday afternoon and is bursting forth by the hour. If you’re yearning to soak up warm sunshine and soft air drenched with the scent of blossoms, you needn’t travel far. Charlotte has 210 parks and miles of greenways where you can take a break from studying and “get away from it all.” Below is a sampling of parks and greenways located within reasonable walking or biking distance from campus.

Little Sugar Creek Greenway

The walker, jogger, bicyclist, tourist, nature lover, or bench sitter will love this greenway traversing downtown Charlotte. Little Sugar Creek is an on-going work-in-progress and features a stream restoration project. When complete, the greenway will meander for 15 along the creek from Cordelia Park north of downtown, through Midtown Square and south to the North/South Carolina state line.

Freedom Park—1900 East Blvd.

This 98-acre park features walking trails and paths, a 7-acre lake and numerous sports facilities for baseball, tennis, soccer, basketball, and volleyball. Additionally, there are five outdoor shelters with grills for evening or weekend cookouts. The park can be accessed via Little Sugar Creek Greenway, which traverses it at its east end.

Spring!: continued

Some of the outdoor events that are coming up in the Queen City this month follow.

Loch Norman Highland Games – April 16-18

If you’ve ever wondered what a caber toss is like, or wanted to see a pipes and drums band in action, maybe you can check out the Highland Games.

Quail Hollow Championship Golf Tournament – April 26-May 2

Are you a golfer? Or a golf fan? Keep this championship tournament in mind at the end of the month.

Queen’s Cup Steeplechase – April 24

Never been to a horse race? No time like the present. It’s time to experience the thrill of a Steeplechase!

Book Review: Lost Desserts – Delicious Indulgences of the Past.

What is your favorite dessert? What desserts do you remember fondly from your childhood? Lost Desserts – Delicious Indulgences of the Past began as an article by Gail Monaghan on her personal recollections of her favorite desserts from her California childhood. As she began working on this article, she spoke with friends asking their recollections of favorite desserts. As she collected a variety of opinions and stories, Monaghan realized that this article could easily grow into a book. In the end, she decides to focus primarily on desserts from the restaurants or the chefs no longer exist. Monaghan also rescues from classic desserts from oblivion.

But, how do you decide which recipes to include and which ones to leave out of the book? Monaghan admits that this book is a personal statement as everyone she spoke with had different opinions. She realized that the book could have been even longer as there were numerous recipes she could have included.

Monaghan’s editor encouraged her to update the recipes for the modern palate. She admits that she loved playing with the recipes but kept them true to their original concepts and flavors. Some of the chefs included in the book are Carême, Escoffier, Fernand Point, and Eduard de Pomiane along with many other food greats from the past.

Lost Desserts – Delicious Indulgences of the Past contains beautiful color photographs of many of the desserts. A strong point of this book is the introduction and/or history which is included with each recipe. In my opinion, Monaghan does an excellent job of sharing these recipes and memories of “lost desserts”.

In addition to walking/fitness trails, this 31-acre park features a creek with new pedestrian bridge, sporting facilities, and picnic shelter with restroom, grill and electricity.

Frazier Park – 1201 West 4th Street Ext.

This pleasant 31-acre park offers greenway trails along Irwin Creek. There are also soccer/flag football fields and courts for tennis and basketball. The park features a community garden with 10 x 15 plots that can be rented for cultivation. (For information, call 704-353-1237.

Independence Park – 300 Hawthorne Lane

There is a lot going on at this spacious 24-acre park. In addition to walking trails, there are courts for basketball, volleyball and tennis, a baseball field, picnic shelter, reflecting pond, and rose garden.

Fourth Ward Park – 301 North Poplar Street

Of all parks mentioned, Fourth Ward Park is the closest to campus. Located at 6th & Poplar Streets, this 3-acre park spans two blocks and contains walking trails, decorative water fountains and park benches. Located just a brief walk from campus, the park is an ideal, spur-of-the-moment getaway for long breaks between classes, or just anytime.
