CANADIAN PACIFIC DINING CAR SERVICE
POWER

As the life-blood of transportation, steam still stands supreme. From steam the fastest ocean liners, the world's most powerful locomotives derive their power.

Throughout the development of the Canadian Pacific to its enviable position today as the world's greatest travel system, an unwavering faith in steam has dominated the Company's Motive Power Department. The engine rooms of its Duchess liners have revolutionized marine engineering. Its steam locomotives stand today as the most powerful in the British Empire. Advance has followed advance. The "Royal Hudson," 2820 to 2865 series, in appearance and performance are the aristocrats of the passenger locomotive world. The 5900 series, with 33,000 pounds greater tractive effort than the "Royal Hudson," has proved so successful for hauling freight in the mountains that additional locomotives, 5920 to 5929, sleek and streamlined, more powerful and faster, now provide passenger service over mountain territory.

As fast as improvements become realities, new ones appear on the horizon . . . and still the driving power is steam.
